Despite having limited contact with our customers, we had managed to retain and keep our position as a manufacturer through online, Taking care of our personnel and preserving the work force since the pandemic. Yet, our customers relied on us and returned to journey with us.

Over the past ten years, we have all worked for various RMGs from around the world. We are experts in a variety of fields. Someone in our group is working hard to ensure the highest quality products, while someone else has a lot of experience in marketing. Recently, our team handled business for 'UNIQLO,' a well-known buyer in the global market. Some have a fantastic reputation in yarn quality selection and coloring information, while others have been managing sourcing activity in other countries like AUSTRALIA and the UK for quite sometime.
